EUROWINGS' NEW TURIN–DÜSSELDORF SERVICE

TO LAUNCH IN APRIL 2027

Three flights a week, on Mondays, Fridays and Sundays.

A strategic connection for inbound tourism to Turin and Piedmont, strengthening the region's accessibility from Germany, one of its main international tourism markets.

Turin, 19 November 2026 – A new service between Turin and Düsseldorf will launch for the summer 2027 season, operating from 30 April 2027 with three flights a week, on Mondays, Fridays and Sundays. The route is one of the new additions to the summer 2027 schedule of Eurowings, Germany's largest leisure airline, and will expand international travel options for the airport's entire catchment area.

The connection is strategically important not only for those travelling to Germany for business or leisure, but also for the development of inbound tourism to Turin and Piedmont.

For the local business community, the new service provides a valuable transport link. Düsseldorf is the economic hub of the Rhine-Ruhr region and one of Europe's leading centres for trade fairs, finance and industry. The German airport's proximity to the city centre and fast connections to the area's main industrial districts — including Cologne, Essen and Dortmund — help local businesses manage travel time and costs more efficiently, supporting trade and same-day business trips.

At the same time, the route meets the growing demand for high-quality leisure travel, offering passengers the opportunity to discover a multifaceted, contemporary destination. From the avant-garde architecture of the Medienhafen to the welcoming atmosphere of the Altstadt's historic breweries, Düsseldorf is an ideal destination for a city break centred on culture and lifestyle.

For inbound tourism, the three weekly flights facilitate weekend breaks and longer stays in Turin and Piedmont, improving access from the Rhine-Ruhr catchment area as well as from the nearby Netherlands and Belgium. The connection offers new opportunities to showcase the region's cultural attractions, food and wine experiences, and outdoor activities.

Flights are already available to book through the airline's official channels and travel agencies.

"We are delighted to connect Dusseldorf and Turin directly from spring 2027. The new route brings two strong economic regions closer together, while making it even easier to discover the distinctive blend of culture, cuisine and Italian lifestyle in Turin and Piedmont," says Reinald Frankewitz, Head of Network Relations at Eurowings.

"It is a pleasure to welcome Eurowings and add Düsseldorf to Turin Airport's network. The arrival of a new airline is an important achievement in our work to develop our offering and marks the start of a partnership that we intend to grow over time. We want to offer passengers an ever-wider choice and build connections that create value for the region: it is with this vision that we welcome Eurowings to our airport," says Paolo Papale, Aviation Development Director at Torino Airport.
