

AER LINGUS ANNOUNCES NEW TURIN-DUBLIN SKI ROUTEONE FLIGHT EVERY SUNDAY FROM DECEMBER 2025The airline opens the first connection to Torino Airport*

Caselle Torinese, July 29, 2025 – Aer Lingus announces the expansion of its network from Turin for the 2025/2026 winter season with a new ski route to and from Dublin.

Flights will operate from December 21, 2025, every Sunday until March 2026, with tickets already on sale on the airline's website www.aerlingus.com.

The schedule includes departure from Dublin at 7:00 am and arrival in Turin at 10:25 am; departure from Turin is scheduled at 11:15 am, with arrival in the Irish capital at 12:50 pm.

The connection is designed to majorly appeal to Irish ski and winter sports enthusiasts, who can easily reach the ski destinations of Piedmont and the Northwest Alps.

The new flight will also be available to Piedmontese residents who decide to take advantage of this opportunity to connect to the Irish capital to visit a destination with a well-established tourist appeal.

THE NEW AER LINGUS ROUTE

Route	Operational	Start date	Time
Dublin-Turin	Sunday	December 21, 2025	7:00-10:25
Turin-Dublin			11:15-12:50

Andrea Andorno, CEO of Torino Airport commented: "We are very pleased with the launch of the new route announced by Aer Lingus to and from Dublin. This is an excellent sign of the Irish market's interest in the mountains of Piedmont and represents an excellent opportunity for tourism development for the entire territory".

Susanne Carberry, Chief Customer Officer, Aer Lingus, added: "Aer Lingus' new direct service to Turin opens up one of Europe's most exciting winter playgrounds for our Irish customers. Whether it's carving down the slopes of the Piedmont region or soaking up Turin's rich blend of history, cuisine and culture, this route offers something fresh for every kind of explorer this winter".
